Your email is denying me again..so here is what I responded to your email that got sent back to me:

well even if you just throw the random stuff in together and just label the box saying that the stuff came from the bookcase or whatever...then you will have an idea of where to put the stuff when you unpack....furniture shopping is fun...where you going? i saw an ad on tv that bernie and phyls is having a promotion where you get 0% til 2011
